April 13, 2003

This dream came in fragments a scene here and there. The dream began at my Grandpa Kropf's big machine shed that was always in need of repairs. We were preparing and getting the machinery ready for harvest. The trucks were backed out of the shed in preparation for the job ahead. There was one truck still in the shed when some other harvesters of the Mennonite Brethren showed up. They proceeded to drive their equipment into the shed blocking us from removing the last truck out of the shed. An argument took place, but they did not budge.

I got into the truck my brother was going to drive and backed it up the driveway. When I applied the brakes to stop, they were inoperative. After slowing and stopping, I proceeded forward toward the shed slowly. Another car pulled up beside me and the driver jumped out and ran in front of me and hung a sign on the fence. As I approached the shed, the brakes were still inoperative. As I coasted past the shed, I forced the truck in reverse to stop it.

Then the scene changed and I was out in the country. I saw the Mennonite Brethren going up a road in the distance with all of their machinery. In a field next to me I saw my dad cutting milo with the old self propelled combine he had in the early 1950's.

This part of the dream I was back at the machine shed. The shed looked new and a brilliant light radiating around it. There were men dressed in uniforms about the shed. The men said or did nothing. Next I saw two people inside the shed working on an electrical box. They were trying to secure the box to the wall with screws. As they fastened the first screw through the box into the wall, the building started losing its bright light. When the second screw was attached the light was gone and the men in uniforms disappeared. The building was back to its normal condition.

Then behind the shed I saw the ground was blue in color. The blue kept spreading like a mold or fungus. There was talk as to what it was. A man came in out of the field that the blue mold or fungus had taken over. He was having problems talking. He was sitting in a car with someone else. He then sneezed and out of his mouth came a blue power like a puff of smoke. The other man in the car said we need to get you to Denver.

In the last scene I stood in the middle of the driveway. There were no cars, or buildings or people. I stood in a place of emptiness. The dream ended.

I asked the Lord about the dream, if he had any thing to say. I then mediated on the dream from beginning to end so that I would not forget part of the dream. The Lord spoke and gave me this interpretation. "I would stand alone and then I would be with others he will put in my path to speak and harvest for His Church. The machine shed represents denominational churches that cannot agree on how to harvest. Each denomination does the harvest by their traditions with full speed ahead without brakes (Holy Spirit guidance). They follow the road signs of their denomination. The shed with the brilliant light represents what the church would be like in the power of the Spirit with angels about to assist, if it would listen to what the Spirit is saying and obey. Man desires to proceed in his own power without My Spirit power. They walk in the darkness of their hearts denying My Spirit. The blue mold is man's denominational traditions and doctrines spreading and contaminating those who come in contact the churches. They are dying a slow death. They can be redeemed in the judgments falling, if they repent and come into My light."
