“Open your heart, open your heart. Lay it bare for Me to touch, to knead and remove that which is impure; those corners of darkness and sin that you hold dear. Purity and holiness are My attributes and sin cannot abide in My presence. Open your heart to My truth to obey making yourself ready for your day. Rid yourself of your fears as death and destruction draws near.

For on that day that is not far away, if your heart is closed to hearing the truth, where will you stand as I judge this land? A land I have blessed making it a land of freedom and rest. But I must as I have before, I will remove My blessings, freedom and rest.

With your closed heart blackness has set in and you love the sin you hold within. I have knocked at your heart and you have heard me not. My prophets I sent with My word and warning. If you chose to listen to the darkness in your heart, you will walk the path you have chosen and suffer the seeds of darkness you have sown.

Again, I speak out. Will you hear and repent this day as judgments are near. I have sent disasters of nature as warnings, but yet your darkened hearts remain hell bent. Now you have seen My warnings intensified with the death of many world wide. Suddenly it came and more is to come until repentance I see. Open your heart before it is too late. Repent and let me give you a new slate.

This is the year you will see more death and destruction for you refuse to seek me on bended knees. No longer listen to the lies uttered forth from those who speak peace and blessing saying God is near and nothing will happen to you or those you hold dear. Open your heart and seek the truth from the teacher that does not lie. Listen and heed the warnings that have been sent. Reflect on what I have done this past year. You will see that each of My judgments have increased in number and intensity. Who has listened and who has repented? Consider this in the year to come, if you die in judgment upon the land, where will you be in eternity? Open your heart and repent. Allow Me to touch and to knead your heart removing what is impure. Then you will be ready as judgments appear. If you believe not that I am in charge, read Psalm 29 the truth of My word. Repent and prepare and don't die in vain when My judgments come your way.

Open your heart to be purified by the one who will keep you when your die. Keep your heart darkened loving your sins of unbelief of My word, My prophets and My judgments obeying not then hell will be your lot. I warn again this day. You will have no excuse on that day when you stand before Me to receive what I have to give you. Repent and no longer be hell bent. I am God and I change not and if you change not hell will be your lot. Examine yourself this very day to see if Christ is within you not being a reprobate. I love My children that profess My Son and I will not let their sin go unpunished. Repent and obey to save yourself. Let me cleanse your heart with My light giving you spiritual insight.” Amen
