This is another of what I call a loop dream from last night. It kept repeating itself over and over.

I was traveling with either a cousin or with my dad in a pickup going down the driveway to a farmer's house. It was very muddy and we could not even dodge the many mud holes to get to the house. The pickup looked like a mud ball upon arrival. I was offered a job to install some communication equipment in his vehicle and a base unit. I did not have my tools with me. Next I was back at the house with my pickup and tools. I inspected the job in his van and the type of equipment to be installed. The equipment was used and refurbished with a ninety day warranty. Power cords, speakers, mounting brackets and a control head were pieces lacking in the shipping box for the installation. . The farmer had a portable unit on the dash of his van. It was turned on when I picked it up and had a display for e-mail type messages. Up on examination I found out the type of communication system he was using. It was sponsored by his local CO-OP. It was satellite communications and with point to point available. Due to the per minute cost the system was using data packets attached to the ID signal to receive a type of e-mail message. At other times the system used point to point from the land units to ship units relaying the messages.

I began the installation with the antenna. In the back of his van was the old antenna he was using with the old radio system. Examining the roof of the van I found that part of the roof in the area of where the antenna was to be installed could be removed. I saw the hole plug installed where the old antenna had been removed. The hole was too big for the installation of the new antenna. Also there was another antenna installed on the roof. With the section of the roof removed I could see that the antenna was incorrect for the type of two way radio that was installed. The coax and the antenna matching system between the radio and the antenna was improper.

I never did do any of the installation in the dream, but only inspected and found the above discrepancies. In desperation of the dream repeating itself each time I woke up and went back to sleep, I rebuked the dream in the name of Jesus. The dream finally faded. This morning I spoke to the Lord and said--“Lord please forgive me for rebuking the dream if it was of you last night.” Then as I was shaving this morning the Lord started giving me the interpretation of the dream.

This is the Lord’s interpretation which keeps reminding me of the weakness and the disobedience of the church. “They use not all of the power available from heaven because of the cost in using that power. They prefer using the earthly power from the instruction of man to guide them. Like the used radio equipment they are lacking in parts with little ability. And what they are doing is not matched up with my will traveling a road of many mud holes stumbling and falling making a mess of themselves. They let not my anointed ones lead them down the path of truth and righteousness. They will be exposed from above of their errors of their ways being given a chance to repent.”
