In prayer this morning the Holy Spirit spoke of churches.

“Churches are like Mac Donald’s. They are on most every street in the towns of America. What does Mac Donald’s serve, the same bland menu in all of their stores. It is tasteless food that offends few. The service is quick and you are on your way. What do the churches in America serve, the same bland diluted menu of my Word. They tickle the ears of many offending few. Their service is quick and you are on your way.

My Spirit has been removed from their menu. They serve only their doctrines and traditions. I did not argue. When I was told to go, I left. They will suffer from the choice they made. Repentance will come to the few that are mine in judgment with pain and sorrow. They will see and taste my menu, the diversity of the Spirit.

Churches seek power for themselves. They exalt themselves using my name and my Word claiming to have my Spirit and the power of my Spirit. They are deceived. If there is no evidence of Spirit power, then there is none. They can preach everyday until THAT day making their claims. I will continue to love them and bless them until THAT day. But on THAT day, I will show them their blindness and their works of iniquity. They will then know they lead many astray. Their punishment will be greater than that of the ones lead astray. Both the leaders and the lead are guilty of lack of knowledge. Without knowledge, my covenant commands are disobeyed. Disobedience is unrepented sin.” Amen

Brothers and sisters, God is making his case. How many other ways can God describe and compare the churches failure? As many he as chooses. God never gives up on us. When will we listen and obey?
