I share what the Lord spoke as I lay in bed waiting for sleep. “The hour is two minutes to midnight. The stem on the stop watch has been pushed. The second hand is moving. The clock will strike the hour of judgment in the months of this year. Blood will be let and funeral wails will be heard. My truths will be spoken. What’s to be will be the opposite of what was.”

In the night the Lord showed this dream. I looked afar off and saw something. I ran into the distance and found what I saw. As I came running back there was a hill to go up. The wind was blowing dirt and dust from the top of the hill in my direction. As I started up the hill I saw coming over the hill were the tracks of a Caterpillar tractor. The tractor had not reached its balance point to start down the hill. Next I saw myself in a recessed place in the hill and was covered up and hid. Then I came bounding out of what looked like a long tunnel into the middle of what looked like a laboratory. When the people in the lab saw me they were with fear. They were shut off from the world and the ones who had authority to open the door to the world in the upper story would not do it. By being shut off from the world they were making TV sets by their own methods and had become quite proficient at it. The dream was much more detailed than I recorded, but the theme is described to understand the interpretation. The Lord spoke in the night—“I call you and you obeyed and were taught. I stopped you from sharing for it was not your time. I hid you. When I release you it will be in ‘churches’ suddenly as my prophet and they will fear you because of your authority and your sudden appearance. The ‘churches’ have isolated themselves from the heavenly gifts and the Holy Spirit. The leaders who have the authority will not allow me in, but they will hear the truth spoken and know they are in sin.”
