January 21, 2003

This night January 21, 2003 the Lord gave me this dream and in the night he spoke and gave me the interpretation. This is another warning to 'churches' and Christians as God never gives up on us.

The dream opened with me in a meeting with other two-way communications professionals. We were discussing and trying to reach a solution on how our different customers could use each others communications networks. Each of our networks had different protocols and the customers could not roam freely between the areas. We were meeting in the main room which had sleeping quarters attached to it. There was no air conditioning and to get any circulation we had to open the window in the room and leave our door open.

Then I was rewound back to an earlier time before the meeting. There were several of us dealers that were in the meeting in a car traveling to the meeting. We were going down a road pass the house I lived in as a child. I told the driver to stop as I needed something from the house. When I went into the house my mother was not there. In the house were several cats lying around in the way. I tried to get them to move out of the way. Upon leaving the cats followed me to the door and I coaxed them and shoved them out the door. Out side the driver had moved the car. It was parked in the front year of the house. Getting in the car there sat my mother. Sitting down beside her, she showed me two receipts for things she had purchased. One receipt was for a nephew and the other for me. Next without my mother for she refused to go with us, we were at an intersection of two roads. Most of the group wanted to go one direction to another town then on to our destination. I spoke and said we need to go straight ahead, if we go through the other town we will be taken miles out of our way being delayed and reaching our meeting late. The dream ended.

I laid there awake after the dream thinking about the dream and what the Lord was trying to tell me from the dream. The Lord started relaying this message. “No matter how many meetings denominational churches have trying to resolve differences, if they will not put aside the old and leave their doors open so that the wind of the Holy Spirit can blow and move among them they will remain incompatible with each other. It doesn’t matter how many miles they travel together as long as they remain attached to the old house of traditions and doctrines the head of that house will control them. They will not want to leave the old house but remain parked in the front yard lounging around contented with what they have. Even when they are showed the destination to where I want to take them and know they must go, they will be in no hurry. They will be drawn to the things of this world, knowing they should be walking the narrow path. On that day, it will be too late for them to meet with rejoicing the King of kings and the Lord of lords. They will fear knowing they sinned without repentance working iniquity.”

Brothers and sisters God loves us and continues to warn us. Jesus is coming for his Church without spot or wrinkle. How much longer are we going to be band-aid Christians held together by denominations instead of the Holy Spirit? When are we going to become the new man in Christ? Are we going to do that before or during the judgment of God? What is your choice?

I share what the Lord spoke January 14, 2003 as I lay in bed waiting for sleep. “The hour is two minutes to midnight. The stem on the stop watch has been pushed. The second hand is moving. The clock will strike the hour of judgment in the months of this year. Blood will be let and funeral wails will be heard. My truths will be spoken. What’s to be will be the opposite of what was.”
