This morning in prayer in my spirit I knew I must wait upon the Lord in silence. As I sat on the floor leaning against the wall, I waited. Then the Holy Spirit opened my mind to the dream I had that night. I had remembered part of the dream upon rising that morning, but then it all faded away and was no longer in my memory. Then the Lord opened my mind to the dream in its completeness, I meditated upon the dream and asked the Lord for an interpretation. The Lord was in no hurry that morning on revealing, but I waited in silence upon the Lord. The interpretation was then revealed.

This was the dream. I was going with my cousin in his dad's old Ford pickup to a job site. The pickup although old was in perfect condition. We both had a test tube full of sperm in our shirt pockets. At the job site we were deconstructing a cable TV head end site. The satellite dishes and the antenna tower had been removed. All that was left in the cable building were five channel modulators tuned to the 2-13 TV channels. The day ended and my cousin drove me back into town to my office. It had been a hot day and we both had removed our shirts while working. When I got out of his pickup, I forgot to grab my shirt.

Entering my office what I saw shocked me. It was no longer my small office, but a large display area of musical instruments and video products. There were multitudes of people in the room. I was embarrassed for I had no shirt on and was sweaty from the day's work. The salespeople selling and demonstrating the products were friendly as well as all the other people shopping. The display room wall opposite of the entry door had a large flat screen TV hanging and filling the whole wall. There were all kinds of other sizes of video display screens and TV's around the room. Some even had two different sizes of screens in the same cabinet showing two different programs. There was a huge keyboard instrument with a representative standing by it. This was positioned on the right wall by the stairway of the room. This keyboard instrument is what caught my eye when I first entered my office. I went upstairs to try and get away because of no shirt and being dirty. Climbing the stairs, I looked again at the flat screen TV hanging on the wall opposite of the entry door and saw that the room was L shaped with the opening off the left side of the room. Again this is not my normal small office any longer. I was thinking as I looked. Why would a company set up this kind of store in a very small town and expect the business to be a success? Where did all the people come from? I finally went back down the stairs and looked closer at all the products wandering what is going on. Then all the shoppers started leaving and the sales people started packing up all the display equipment and removing it out of the store. My thought was why all this work for a one night presentation? The dream ended.

I waited upon the Lord that morning for him to open my mind to the dream. Being flesh, I was trying think, what the dream represented. I had no clue. I spoke and said Lord I wait upon you. Here is the interpretation from the Holy Spirit. The change of my office with all the displays and the sales people is representative of the large crusades by big name ministries that occur today. They setup with all their latest equipment, do their programs, collect money by shearing and fleecing Christians then pack up and leave town. The test tubes of sperm represents that the Lord is no longer going to allow these types of displays to multiply. My being without a shirt represents the Lord is going to chose the common man to bring forth his word without Hollywood glitter. The old Ford pickup in perfect condition represents the Word of God the Holy Bible although old it is in perfect condition and its truth will be spoken again by the ones chosen by God. The destruction of the cable TV site is God tearing down ministries with Hollywood glitter and their many channels of chatter. The five TV modulators left in the cable TV building represents God's word going out when and how he wants it done by his chosen ones.
