How can Christians without the baptism of the Holy Ghost denying Holy Ghost power and anointing be illustrated as taught by the Holy Spirit?

They are like gypsies passing by depending upon drinking only water from the streams and lakes of this earth to quench their thirst from the heat of the sun. They never stay in one place or take the time to drill deep into the earth for the living waters that always flows even in times of drought. In drought they stumble, fall and die of thirst as in a desert of raging fire that burns their body, soul and spirit like the lake of fire on judgment day.

They are like prospectors looking for gold. They use only the waters of the earth to pan for flakes of gold from the mountain streams. They walk in the mountains and the deserts looking for nuggets of gold. They never take to time to find the power tools that will allow them to mine deep into the earth for the mother lode of gold. They talk and act like miners, but they have denied the power to become true miners. They live in poverty claiming to be rich raising their voices in anger and shaking their fists against those true miners that have used power to become rich finding the mother lode of rewards in heaven.

They are like harvesters sent into the orchard to gather the fruit. Their necks are stiff and unbending only being able to look at the ground. They harvest the fallen fruit that in imperfect with rot and mold rejoicing in the filled baskets of their harvest. Being stiff necked, they never to look up to see the good fruit that in the trees unspoiled and sweet to the taste that is available to fill their baskets that will keep for eternity. They only store up an earthy harvest that will rot and decay losing their harvest in heaven being stiff necked and unbending.

They are like a homeowner that has a home full of electrical appliances but without electrical power to make them work. And a power company representative stands knocking at the door of the home and the owners will not answer and receive the power to make their appliances work. On the day the power company ceases with offers of their power, the home owner will suddenly come to his senses desiring that power that he denied. He will be left in the tombs of the dead along with all of his earthly possessions.

Their works are like a combine harvesting wheat with half of the sections in the sickle bar missing. The harvest is incomplete getting only half of a crop with the other half left in the field. The crop left in the field in beyond claiming being trampled upon left to rot in the sun and rain. Yet they claim they are doing God's work in his field bragging and patting themselves on their backs for the harvest they are doing for God. They are like clouds promising rain, but are dead and dried up having a machine that is able to harvest a field with no stocks standing. They will not maintain and use the machine as designed and worst yet they will not let others touch the machine that knows how to use it. They have all the rewards they will ever get.

The Holy Spirit spoke this

“Continue to climb straight up the mountain of God. I have showed you my grief and taught you their sins and what I am going to do about the churches. Don't look back at them but focus upon me and minister unto me until I change things. Then I will send you down off of my mountain into their midst and they will listen for I will have made them ready. Don't be like the crab crawling out of the bucket of crabs. If he looks back he will see and hear their cries to come back into the bucket and he will be tempted, thinking he can help them by his own power.”
