As I was in prayer this morning, the Holy Spirit started speaking as I was looking at a blank page on my notepad.

“As you look at this page, it is blank until you apply ink. As you apply ink to fill the page, you must apply yourself, not just part but all of yourself in seeking my face to know me and my Kingdom’s ways. No man is excused, all must apply effort to search for the hidden things in my Word and Kingdom. Those without intimacy with me, will walk and live in fear day by day and suffer the judgments increasing upon this nation and the world.

Who will be protected? Who will have knowledge and wisdom? Who will walk without fear among the destruction coming? Who will be ready to serve me during these troubled times. Will that be you?

It will be, IF you apply yourself now and be ready. It will be you, IF you hear the Spirit and obey. It will be, IF you are in truth and love. It will be, IF my Word abides in you and you apply my Word to you life. It will be, IF you come under my authority and humble yourself to my will without using your reasoning. It will be, IF you are ready to suffer for my names sake, for you will have stopped sinning and became holy as I am holy.

My house is a holy house and is ruled by my authority. Those who seek my face will find authority when they find my face. They will know my authority and fear me and not man. Those who fear man know not my authority and obey not my commands in my Word or the Spirit. They are not preparing themselves by doing the “IF’s” and will suffer much pain and sorrow in the coming days. Some will die needlessly for they prepared not even though they profess they belong to me with their lips, but work iniquity with their mouth, feet and hands. Repent now and suffer not the judgments, but be ready to suffer for the Kingdom. Make the choice as to where your home is and lay up the correct treasures in heaven.

Apply yourself, do the “IF’s” and you will be ready for all things walking in boldness without fear of the world serving me by glorifying my name and Kingdom. When you glorify me, then I will glorify you in all things to come.” Amen.
